DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Donald Ringer House and Store are located on Collier Road, east of Route 219S. The house is on the east side of the road and the store is opposite it, on the west side. The site is surrounded by rolling hills.

The house is a two-story, gable-roofed, ell-plan house with an asymmetrical three-bay facade. The facade points SW. A one-story, shed-roofed porch runs the length of the facade. A one-story ell porch covers the NE elevation of the main block and the SE elevation of the ell.

The house rests on a coursed stone foundation and is covered with aluminum siding. The windows are two over two sash. All window surrounds have been obscured by the aluminum siding. The roof is covered with corrugated metal.

The house has one cinderblock chimney on the NW elevation of the main block. The NW and central sections of the facade have been closed in and the facade door is on the SE elevation of the enclosed section. The interior of the house is unknown.

The store is a one and half story, gable-roofed ell-plan structure with an asymmetrical facade. The facade points NE. The ell extends from the NE end of the NW elevation, creating a continuous facade.

The store rests on a cut and squared stone foundation, and the plank-constructed walls are covered with unpainted German siding. The windows are two over two sash and most have simple mitred surrounds. The facade window has a moulded surround. The facade door has been removed and the opening enlarged to accommodate a tractor, but the framing for the inset door is still visible on the ceiling just above the entrance. The entrance probably had a window on either side. Only the NW window remains. The roof is covered with corrugated metal.

The interior consists of one large room and a small one in the ell. The interior walls are covered in horizontal boards nailed to furring strips with cut nails with machined heads. The lower third of the walls are painted red and the upper third are painted white. Shelves remain on the NW wall of the main room, and the owners say that they once ran around all three walls. The ell room, said by the owners to have been a post office, was not visible. The store is in extremely poor condition and is used as a storage building for farm machinery.

SW of the store is a small spring.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The owner states that the small store was once a grocery and post office. The building has not been put to its original purpose in some time. It is a good example of the plank construction used in Garrett County in the 19th and early 20th centuries.
